After the separation of Ponte Quarter in 1950, formed the present Spaggia Quarter. with "the fire of the breakwater". They collected old tyres, soaked them in petrol and set fire to them on the breakwater near the Franciscan church. Unluckily the sea became rough and the fireworks got wet, but some people from other quarters came to 1955, when the "New Spiaggia" was born in the same year, spending spent the enormous sum of L. 175.000.

Thanks to the skill of fireworker Raffaele Liccardo, the quarter resumed its activity and, attracting lots of young people, has improved
